WRITING FOR TELEVISION/SELLING TO TELEVISION: A WORKSHOP

by Mark Alton Brown and Dee LaDuke

Date: 11 April 2011 Time: 2pm- 5pm Venue: AS5/05-09A

The Workshop:

The television market is voracious. New product, new ideas and new people are always being sought out in an ever evolving marketplace. Do you have TV show ideas but lack the know-how to get your ideas sold? This workshop will teach you how to develop your ideas the way the experienced show runners do. Working TV writers, producers and show runners Dee LaDuke & Mark Alton Brown will walk you through the key ingredients essential for good television and the entire process of developing your ideas into viable and sellable TV pitches.

We will help you to develop in yourself the same skills that the TV and studio executives use to decide which ideas will go on to be the TV shows of tomorrow. Every part of the process will be explored, including: the aesthetics of television, analyzing the marketplace, finding an agent, getting pitch meetings, networking, developing your story, writing the pilot, polishing your pitch, knowing what to ask for and closing the deal.

The last hour will be a question and answer session so come prepared with questions and ideas.
